

Substance Use Prevention

Skill development is at the core of Too Good for Drugs, a universal prevention education program designed to mitigate the risk factors and enhance protective factors related to alcohol, tobacco, and other drug (ATOD) use. The lessons introduce and develop social and emotional skills for making healthy choices, building positive friendships, developing self-efficacy, communicating effectively, and resisting peer pressure and influence.

play. Character education and asset development are at the core of this ten-lesson course promoting positive social development and supportive relationships.

Social Perspectives High School prepares students with the skills they need for academic, social, and life success. This dynamic course establishes healthy norms and increases resiliency through scripted lesson design, interactive games, collaborative activities, and role

Social Perspectives builds a foundation of social emotional competency skills including setting reachable goals, making responsible decisions, identifying and managing emotions, communicating effectively, and bonding with pro social peers.
