What is the IRRC?

We envision a community where those new to the country, and those who have been here for generations, are able to access opportunity and impact change

A place of learning

A place to network

A place to work
alongside New US Americans

The IRRC is a cross-sector network of stakeholders from across Mid-Michigan who are working together to ensure services and programs reach newcomer populations. With that, the IRRC serves as a hub for learning, networking, and working shoulder-to-shoulder with New Americans. In fact, our Advisory Council is made up of leaders who originally came to our community as both refugees and immigrants.

Of particular note is this link where you will find our strategic plan and list of community stakeholders. The excel list in particular will give you a sense of who we are working with to help New US Americans find a start in Greater Lansing.
